2015, October 2nd-3rd

Dear Friends, dear Colleagues,

It is our great pleasure to present the 23rd National Congress of the Italian Academy of Endodontics (AIE) to be held in the beautiful city of Pisa at Palazzo dei Congressi on October 2nd and 3rd 2015.

The 2015 AIE meeting aims to provide information based on scientific evidence to increase the predictability of the endodontic treatment and of the restorations of endodontically treated teeth.

Endodontic treatment, like the other medical disciplines, should be based on the application of guidelines to increase success rate. According to literature data, a very high percentage of endodontically treated teeth properly restored can be maintained for long period in the absence of disease and with preservation of function.

The introduction of new materials and devices for shaping, cleaning and filling root canals has made endodontic treatments easier and more effective. Similarly the development of new materials and modern post-endodontic restoration techniques has enabled clinicians to adopt strategies for the maximum preservation of healthy coronal tissue allowing the recovery of dental elements that in the past were often extracted. However there are still many factors that can affect the success rates including characteristics of the microbial flora, variability and complexity of the endodontic space, habits, lifestyles, immune responses of the patients and operator experience.

Internationally well-known Speakers will be discussing the procedures to ensure decontamination of the endodontic system and to maintain it over time through an adequate coronal seal.

As usual, each session will be moderated by the Coordinators and followed by a round table in which the Participants will interact with questions and discussion on the topics covered.

AIE will be pleased to welcome you with all its warmth and hospitality, we are waiting for you!
